FALL 2021 TEFL COURSE OFFERINGS

Our Teaching English as a Foreign Language (TEFL) programs provide training in teaching English as a second or foreign language to ESL/EFL students. Completing a certificate program can increase job prospects in English language teaching and international education both in the U.S. and overseas. For those seeking international adventure, our TEFL programs will open doors to travel/work abroad as well as rich intercultural experiences. For more information, email us at tefl@ucsd.edu.

Many courses have an Early Enrollment Discount of $25 if you enroll by September 29. Discount is automatically applied at checkout. Enroll directly online at extension.ucsd.edu/tefl.

Course Delivery Method
We offer a variety of delivery methods for our classes including in-person, live online synchronous, and online asynchronous. See below for descriptions.

- In-Person/Hybrid = Class meetings will be held at our La Jolla Extension Campus. Students must physically attend in-person class meetings in order to pass the class. No exceptions. There will also be required asynchronous independent work.
- Live Online Synchronous = Class will meet online via Zoom on the designated days and times listed. Students must attend the weekly live online class meetings. There will also be required asynchronous independent work for students to complete.
- Online Asynchronous = Class will be entirely online and asynchronous. Students will work at their own pace to complete the required weekly coursework. There will be no required virtual class meetings, but the instructor will hold a few optional Zoom meetings throughout the quarter.
Best Methods in Teaching Speaking Skills

Learn the best methods for getting ESL and EFL students to speak English and which tasks encourage meaningful interaction. This course will address types of spoken language, idiosyncrasies of the spoken language, and micro skills in listening and speaking that are factors in the oral code. This course will cover both fluency and accuracy activities that can be used in and out of the classroom.

Best Methods in Teaching Pronunciation and Fluency

Features of English phonetics, phonology, stress, and intonation will be drawn on to enrich instruction in best practices for teaching and learning pronunciation in a TEFIL environment. Going beyond discrete sounds, this course will focus on the suprasegmental aspects of English pronunciation: stress, rhythm, pitch, and intonation patterns found in connected speech in both formal and casual situations. Specific techniques for accent reduction, plus important information on body language for clear communication in English, will be presented. The course will emphasize the integration of pronunciation instruction and practice in all types of lessons.

Teaching Writing for Academic and Professional Purposes

Learn the discourse features of successful writing in English, in particular, for academic and professional communication in the U.S. and around the world. The uses of reference, substitution, ellipses, conjunction, and lexical cohesion are often not found in the same ways in the writing of other languages but are specific to good written English. This course will clearly instruct on the rhetorical and formal conventions of good writing in English, and it will instruct on the most effective ways to share knowledge with students to help them develop successful writing skills and rhetoric in English.
