International Student Health and Welfare Advisor

I advise International Programs students on some potentially challenging aspects of studying abroad: the U.S. healthcare system, medical insurance matters, housing issues, and anything affecting their well-being. I am here to listen and help. My job is very busy but also extremely rewarding. I love getting to know students individually and making a positive difference in their lives. I first worked with international students when I was a student myself. While completing my bachelor's degree in Psychology at UC San Diego, I worked as a Cultural Ambassador in the English Language Institute. understanding of diverse cultures around the world while also sharing about U.S. culture from my perspective as a Turkish-Filipino American. Working as a Cultural Ambassador led to a certificate in Teaching English as a Foreign Language and a career in international student advising. I am so glad I chose this path. When you come to San Diego, I am here for you!

Graduate School Preparation Academy

I applied to the Graduate School Preparation Academy with the goal to get accepted and complete a Master's of Finance at UC San Diego's Rady School of Management. Instructors at the English Language Institute helped me to create the best possible Statement of Purpose and CV, which definitely helped when I applied to Rady. They also offered me good advice on making appointments with professors. I was very lucky to have excellent instructors, like Kelly Smith

Legal English

The Legal English program was extremely important for my career. It prepared me to apply for law school and pursue a master degree in Comparative Law. It really helped me improve my English skills and also provided me with a necessary overview of the most important topics of American Law. I am currently attending the University of San Diego (USD) School of Law and working on my LLM in Comparative Law. After graduation, I plan to sit for the California Bar, so I will be licensed to practice law here.

My favorite part of studying in UC San Diego Extension's TEFL program is that it consists of not only international students but also local students. All the students I met in this program were really motivated and respectful to others. DUANE E. BENNETT

United States

UC San Diego Extension Instructor for Civil Rights Leadership and Tort Law

Former City Attorney for the City of Oceanside and retired General Counsel for the Port of San Diego

At an early age I became interested in ethnic disparities in my neighborhood compared to others, and recognized that things were much worse for African Americans. I recognized education as a way of progress and becoming an attorney as a method of social change. If nothing else, becoming an attorney empowered me to affect the conditions affecting me and my family. As an African American attorney, I am always disturbed when I observe racism, discrimination and mistreatment of people. The importance of civil rights statutes, due process, and equal protection in eradicating racism, discrimination, and inequality cannot be overstated.

Becoming an attorney empowered me to affect the conditions affecting me and my family.
